“ Uncle Bill will be greatly missed. He was an admirable husband, son, brother, uncle, and friend. He had a love of history that kept him ever learning. The knowledge he took with him is a great loss. I was fortunate to have shared some research on the family genealogy and local history with him over a period of some few years. I am so thankful for the things he taught me, and the time he spent looking up deeds and such for me. I'm also thankful for the years he spent helping his mother and his Aunt Ethel Rude Coon. He will always have a special place in my memories. Rest in peace, Uncle Bill.

“ In Memory of William Hunt

As time moves on, and we reflect,
We stop and pause, to give respects.

A noble heart and steadfast mind,
He's touched us all, a special kind!
With subtle wit, lighthearted view,
Friends as such, are ever few.
Great moments shared, in joy and fun,
Have kindled bonds, ne'er be undone.

You've stood your guard, have stayed the course,
We lift our heads, with no remorse.

“ ...remembrances of an uncle always willing to engage in conversation, ( whether invited or not ;>), to be of cheer and helpfulness and easy to be around. I spent some time in summer of '66 living at the Sussex house and 'tagging' along with uncle Bill all over the area..., never to be a dull moment. He was like an older brother to me and it will always conjure up memories of joy and appreciativeness.

God bless him as he ventures up ahead.
