“ As I was walking by the house one day a very young Amanda, no more than about 7 years old I'd say, ran over to me and began chattering away in her usual exuberant way ...she had a big voice and a lot to say even then! She began to remark on my size and on her own robust physical strength. Well, with no warning at all she wrapped her little arms around my legs, not much higher than my knees because she was still a LITTLE girl, and she lifted me clear off the ground!!!! No kidding my feet were dangling. Tiny Might LOL. In my mind's eye I can see her as clearly as if she were standing before me now. She was in one of her little dresses too. She was so often dressed in pretty, flouncy dresses with the Mary Jane style shoes and little lace trimmed socks, a contrast to the little toughie she was. Such a cutie! ❤️🌟

“ I was one of Amanda's preschool teachers at HolyTrinity. She was the sweetest little girl. I remember that you couldn't help but smile and be happy when you were around her. I imagine she carried that same personality as she continued to grow. I'm so heartbroken for all of her family and friends and especially this world that will miss out on Amanda's light. Love and prayers to everyone in pain and disbelief during this tragic time.

One of Amanda's favorite activities in nursery school and Sunday school at Holy Trinity was singing This Little Light of Mine. Thank you.
