

Charles E. McLean

October 1, 1940 - January 18, 2024

Sussex - Charles E. McLean, age 83, passed away on Thursday, January 18, 2024 after a long illness at Newton Medical Center. Born to the late Lawrence and Marion (Kemp) McLean, Charlie was born in Orange, New Jersey and lived in the Sussex-Wantage area all of his life. A 1958 graduate of Sussex High School, he attended the University of South Carolina, graduating with a BA in Education in 1962 and then received a Master of Arts in Education from Seton Hall University in 1969. Charlie began his 40 year teaching career in the Byram School District before he taught at the Sussex-Wantage School District. Spending most of his teaching career in Sussex-Wantage, he became well liked by the students and was also a basketball coach at the school. Charlie was an active parishioner at St. Monica R.C. Church, serving as a Lector and Eucharistic Minister. He enjoyed gardening around his home, playing golf, singing with the High Point Harmonizers, and best of all, he enjoyed spending summers at Myrtle Beach with his family. Charlie often visited the University of South Carolina to recall fun times he had on campus and the history about the "Horse Shoe and Honeycombs" special spots on campus. He is survived by his loving wife of 57 years, Priscilla (Prout); his sons, Michael McLean of Sussex and David McLean and his wife Evie of Walnut Creek, California; his daughter, Alison Vizzini and her husband Mark of Vernon; his sister, Martha Wagner of Neptune; and his grandchildren, Olivia, Alexa, and Luca Vizzini of Vernon, Cailynn and Charley Rose of Sussex and Finley and Malia McLean of Walnut Creek, CA. “ As a teen, he was a lifeguard at Lake Neepaulin, NJ, loved by everyone. I believe he drove a VW bug very joyfully and was always very friendly and in a good mood.

“ Mr. McLean was a great teacher; tough but fair, and he could communicate complicated ideas in a way that we all understood. I remember when a kid in our class wanted a 'snow day', and Mr McLean was Vice principal (and determined which days had severe enough weather to be a snow day), and the kid poured water all over the McLean driveway. Well it iced up and he declared a snow day. I know he found out who snookered him but was kind enough to let it go. RIP Mr McLean. Also: how great to see tributes from Mrs Hosbach and Mr Kearney, also wonderful teachers! I think of those days with fondness: a teacher can truly truly truly make a difference in our lives. “ Loving thoughts to everyone. It was nice talking to you on the phone recently Priscilla. Our families go back many years, even though I was the tail end of my family and you and my siblings were almost adults when I came to be. Your husband became my 5th grade math teacher. The small world we all live in keeps everyone near even when we think we're not.

“ Mr. McLean was my 6th grade teacher in the early 1970's and was a great example of an amazing educator who influenced my teaching career years later. His teaching style and quirky sense of humor always made me happy to go to school and inspired confidence in this nervous 12 year old. Our relationship carried on through my high school years as I was privileged to babysit the young McLean children until I went off to college. Please accept my deepest condolences on the passing of your husband and Dad. He will be forever missed and thought of with highest regards. 💕💕💕

“ I remember walking into Mr. McLean’s 6th grade history class on the first day of school in 1997. He welcomed us to his “room of doom” but his class couldn’t be further from doom. I still remember two of his weekly brain teasers, coincidentally they both had to do with horses. I still have the Hera statue I made for the Greek Mythology project that he assigned. Mr. McLean was a phenomenal teacher, woven into the core memories of the middle school experience for so many of his former students. My deepest condolences to his family.
