“ I remember when you came home as a newborn in your Mom's arms, all of your new cooking adventures posted and discussed - never got that cookbook together - and all the times in between, the happy and sad moments we shared, Cuz, because that's what family does. To say I'll miss you is truly the understatement of the year. My heart is crushed. I love you and you will always live on in my heart. God speed my cousin and my friend.
