“ Mom, on the morning of November 5th at 230am on a full moon I kiss you on the forehead and said a few prayers. When I woke at 530am your soul had left this earth. You were still warm to the touch of my kiss. I had a calming feeling as I kissed you again, knowing you were in a better place. I guess you had to do it on your terms, as you always did. A piece of my heart left with you and I will miss you dearly. I said to you in the hospital on October 15th when I brought you home that we would dance again and we did. There are no goodbyes, just see you later. Drive safe. May God bless your soul. Until we meet again may you rest easy now. I will love you forever. Thank you! Lollipops in heaven. Always your baby, Roger “ Judy Barnhill family send the deepest sympathy. Judy wasn't here with us but the times that she was she was an awesome person very caring about everyone. we also know. Has she loved her lollipops a bag of 10 every night by the time he said goodbye and got to his truck I guarantee there was only five left and then all around 7 o'clock at night we would get snacks and I was her roommate and I'd always went and got her half of peanut butter and jelly and she'd always say uh-oh. The PB&J fairy was here we laugh because I always thought she was asleep. Like I said I was Judy's roommate and from the day we met we clicked. I remember. She just came into the room and we were having balloon volleyball and I happen to say it to Roger i am sorry I have to go. we're having balloon volleyball and she's like what OK I'm coming. She wasn't even in here not even 10 minutes and she was ready to go and play volleyball and I have to admit she put us all to shame 😊 we will miss you Judy rest in peace now . ❤️🙏 Your Barnhill family

“ Grandma Judy left behind a beautiful lineage of grandchildren who will forever cherish our memories with her. I will never forget how your always cold and gentle hands felt when you hugged me or touched my face. Or the loud mwah you made when you kissed us hello and goodbye. May she forever rest next to God.
