“ Dear dear Larry,
Who the hell is going to be banging on my camper yelling at me every morning? Whose going to make fun of EVERYTHING I say and do and call me names?
I'm in denial my friend because we just spoke this past Thursday and you sounded happy you were going home and of course had your sarcastic remarks to say to me about my surgery on Friday. This probably isn't a memoriam that most will find appropriate, but you and your family and our close knit "click" will totally know where I'm coming from mister.
From morning until night you were out racing around in your hoveround, looking for gossip and hanging with your grinds down town catching up on even more gossip.
What will I do without my dear friend? My caretaker, my teacher of "foul language" and always helping me with all the things that seemed to always go wrong!!
How can Sit N Chat survive without you?
You did this so that I'd have to host Saturday night barbecue's now... what will I do?
You and Georgia were the ones who always hosted the get together. I suppose you are going to be watching from above to make sure I'm doing things right, and I know you are going to be that dang bird that comes out of the bird mansion to crap on my head to just let me know you are out and about.
I love you Larry, our lives will forever be different and I will NOT ever say goodbye to you.
I will say how blessed (yea right..lol) I was to have known you, I will say you were one in a million, but goodbye will never cross my lips. You will forever be in my 💜 heart, because I will carry you in my heart.
(Although you'll be thinking I'm carrying you closer to something else)
So... I'll see you later then ok? 🙄

“ Dear Georgia and all of you... I can't express my sadness nearly enough. You were all loved and he was a great husband, a great dad to all of his children and ones that he thought of as his own. Our lives were all touched in many different ways by Larry. I'm in shock, I'm pained deeply because I've lost such a great true friend. I love you all and when I'm able to drive I'll be there.

“ Condolences on your family's loss. I saw Larry just before my wife and I left Pleasant Acres for Tennessee. He was feeling much better.
It was always a pleasure to see him bopping around PA on his little buggy always waving or stopping to say hello.
